ABOUT THE BLOG WRITING COMPETITION

All India Legal Forum is back with another Blog Writing Competition. While our first instalment was a massive success, we look forward to replicate it with the second edition of the competition. We have 2 themes this time around, both very relevant to the current world. We thereby invite all of you to take part in this exciting competition and showcase your writing and research skills.

THEME OF THE COMPETITION:

1. Technology and gaming law

"The further you get into technology, the further you go into gaming. That's the general rule"

Games have been an integral part of our lives. With the advancement in technology, games have become much more real. At the same time, they have become much more deceptive. The gaming companies disclose out data and other information. Analyse the role played by law in order to safeguard the gamers.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA:

Your articles will be marked on the following points. You should meet the following criteria to qualify to win:

- The article should meet professional standards and be of publishable quality.
- Any plagiarism of more than 20% will make the article non-publishable on the All India Legal Forum blog and thus, they would be rejected.
- The content shouldn't be too dense/ technical for a reader. The concepts and case laws covered in the content should be easily understandable and mentioned in the simplest yet grammatically correct form.
- Content should not be ambiguous or should not have multiple meanings.
- It should be detailed and exhaustive. Answer all the questions that may come to one's mind regarding the topic. However, do not deviate and write irrelevant things to make up the word count. Content needs to be genuine and strictly relevant.
- Information and law should be accurate. Relevant sections referred to must be mentioned everywhere and the cases must have citations. If this criterion is not met, we cannot select your article.
- You have to be straight to the point and precise. No beating around the bush.
- The idea should be communicated clearly and distinctly.
- Inconsistent technical terms should not be used in the document.
- Acronyms used in the articles should be explained.

ALL INDIA LEGAL FORUM

- Important points should be properly highlighted, and the paragraphs should have proper headings and subheadings. More headings and subheadings and bullet points you put, the better chance of winning, because we love well-structured articles.
 - Information should not be repetitive.
 - You should avoid over-exaggeration or over-explanation of concepts.
 - The article should be in a proper flow. Paragraphs/ sentences/ headings/ sub-headings (select as appropriate) should be connected with the previous and subsequent paragraph/ sentence/ heading/ sub-heading (select as appropriate).
 - Sentences and bullet points should be complete sentences.
 - All the judgments or statutory instruments should be hyperlinked. Non-functional/ not updated to the latest amendment links should not be inserted.
- [Ctrl + Shift + K is the Google Keyboard Shortcut for inserting a hyperlink].

PERKS:

Everyone will get a participation certificate for submitting the blog in the competition, and only top three blogs will be published. The authors of the top three blogs will receive certificates of publication.
